

Winter Qtr 2007 – ENT 250

January 7	Mary Sorensen Dept. Entomology UCR	Assessing Impacts of Anthropogenic Pollutants on Selected Aquatic and Terrestrial Insects	Trumble (2-5624)
January 14	Kris Tollerup Dept. Entomology UCR	Managing Populations of the Vine Mealybug, Planococcus ficus (Hemiptera: Pseudococcidae) in Coachella Valley Vineyards using Inundative Releases of the Parasitoid, Anagyrus pseudococci (Hymenoptera: Encyrtidae) and Baits to Control the Field Ant, Formica perpilosa (Hymenoptera: Formicidae)	Klotz (2-3898)
January 21	HOLIDAY: no seminar
January 28	Elizabeth Tibbetts Dept. Ecology & Evolutionary Biology University of Michigan	Wasps know each other's faces: visual signals of individual identity and quality the Polistes	Visscher (2-3973)
February 4	Ray Carruthers Exotic and Invasive Weeds Research UDSA/ARS Albany, CA	USDA's Role in Invasive Plant Management in the Western US, with Special Emphasis on the Biological Control of Saltcedar.
February 11	Rick Lindroth Dept. Entomology Univ. Wisconsin	Chemical variation in aspen: causes and consequences in current and future environments	Trumble (2-5624)
February 18	HOLIDAY: no seminar
February 25	Deborah Letourneau Dept. Environ. Studies Univ. California Santa Cruz	Bt crops, Herbivores, and Wild Relatives: Predicting Effects of Escaped Transgenes	Ken Osborne
March 3	Diana Cox-Foster Dept. Entomology Penn State University	Killing Bees Softly: Investigating the role of pathogens in Colony Collapse Disorder in Honey Bees	Beckage (2-3521)
March 10	Bernd Blossey Dept. Natural Resources Cornell Univ.	Dogmas in biological control of introduced plants: a handicap for improving success rates	Hoddle (2-4714)