

Entomology Seminar Schedule Winter 2010

	Speaker	Title	Host
Jan 4	Janet Foley School of Veterinary Medicine, Depart. Medicine and Epidemiology UC Davis	How anthropogenic forest change affects tick diversity and the risk of tick-borne disease	Daugherty (2-2246)
Jan 11	Teun Dekker Swedish University of Agricultural Sciences. Alnarp, Sweden	Glomerular size matters in olfactory preference	Carde (2-4492)
Jan 18	HOLIDAY
Jan 25	Annie Ray Department of Entomology UCR	The sweet smell of Cerambycidae: pheromones, pores, pits, and phylogenies	Millar (2-5821)
Feb 1	Steve Naranjo USDA-ARS, Arid Land Agricultural Research Center Maricopa, Arizona	50 Years of the Integrated Control Concept	Federici (2-5006)
Feb 8	Mark Sisterson USDA-ARS, San Joaquin Valley Sciences Center, Parlier, CA	Host selection by the glassy-winged sharpshooter: the role of egg load	Daugherty (2-2246)
Feb 15	HOLIDAY
Feb 22
Mar 1	Tom Coleman USDA Forest Service So. Cal. Shared Service Area San Bernardino, CA	A new forest management technique for altering California oak woodlands to chaparral: Oak mortality from the exotic goldspotted oak borer	Hoddle (2-4714)
Mar 8	AL BOYCE LECTURE: Bert Hölldobler School of Life Sciences and Center for Social Dynamics and Complexity Arizona State University	The Superorganism: Communication and Cooperation in Ant Societies	Redak (2-7250)